

Dani climbed bigger trees in the park, trees with squirrels and blossoms and apples to eat . . .

... but always came home to this tree, which was less magnificent—but more special. 🍂

In fall, golden leaves floated down, one after another. The tree was a treasure chest.